

Prompts for Reflection on Business Challenge Simulation

You are invited to reflect on the questions below following the Business Challenge simulation. You may respond first to the questions that are most salient to you immediately following the simulation and come back to the remaining questions as part of your Intersession Work, noting responses in your journals. You are encouraged to share your reflections with your Accountability Partner. Please feel free to reach out to me at susanna@orangegroveconsulting.com with any questions or comments.

- How does what you have experienced in Business Challenge simulation apply at North Hill?
- How does what you have experienced in Business Challenge simulation differ at North Hill?
- How does a mindset of the profitability change decision making?
- What was your reaction when you thought about profit? How might you reframe this?
- When going through the simulation, in what way did you recognize your DiSC profile (Questioning versus accepting, Active versus thoughtful.)
- How do the skills you practiced in simulation support the overarching goal you established for yourself, or how you see yourself as a leader?
- What bias (assumptions) did you hold about yourself and finances? And what would be a good reframe?
- How might integrating these skills in your daily work change the perceptions others have of you (gender bias)?
- How can these skills help with your self-promotion? Self-promotion includes highlighting the impact of your work and being able to quantify that impact.
- How do the skills you practiced today support more strategic business decision-making?